His beastly mind to us; he hath a court He little cares for, and a daughter whom [3] He not respects at all.—What ho, Pisanio!—

IACH. O happy Leonatus! I may say; The credit, that thy lady hath of thee, Deserves thy trust; and thy most perfect goodness Her assur'd credit 1—Blessed live you long! A lady to the worthiest sir, that ever Country call'd his! and you his mistress, only For the most worthiest fit! Give me your pardon. I have spoke this, to know if your affiance Were deeply rooted; and shall make your lord, That which he is, new o'er : And he is one The truest manner'd; such a holy witch, That he enchants societies unto him [4]: Half all men's hearts are his.

IMO. You make amends.

IACH. He sits 'mongst men, like a descended god[5]:

«t----my mother deem'd me chang'd,

[te] Poor woman ! in the loathsome Romish stewes : " and the author of this piece seems to have been a scholar. Again, in Wit In A Constable, by Glapthorne, 164-0 :

" A Romish cirque, or Grecian hippodrome." Again, -Thomas Drant's translation of the first epistle of the second book of Horace, 1567 :

[<e] The Romishe people wise in this,, in this point only just."

STEEVENS.

4----------such a holy WITCH,
That he ENCHANTS SOCIETIES UNTO HIM:] So, in our author's Lover's Complaint:

"------he did in the general bosom reign
" Of young and old,, and sexes both
enchanted— " Consents bewitch'd, ere he desire, have granted."

MALONE.

3 _ like a DESCENDED god :] So, in Hamlet:

«----a station like the herald Mercury,

 New lighted on a heaven kissing-hill." The old copy has—defended. The correction was made by the
